Abrogender

12 VIEW SOURCE

Abrogender is a form of genderfluid that has two possible definitions: 1) Where one's gender is constantly changing and cannot be pinned down, 2) Where someone has so many tiny aspects to one's gender that the person feels that they are continuously discovering it.[1]

History

Abrogender was coined by Tumblr user Telescopephil in 2015 or earlier.[2]

Flag

The abrogender flag was designed by DeviantArt user Pride-Flags on January 19th of 2018. It has no confirmed meaning.

Etymology

The prefix abro- is derived either from the Ancient Greek word ἁβρός (habrós) or its Modern Greek descendant αβρός (avrós), meaning "delicate" or "graceful".

Can it be possible to be Abro gender and genderfluid? If not I'll just identify as Abro gender on its own 🙂

Is there a sexuality/romantic version of this that isn't abro? It fits this definition in my romantic attraction than it does to abroromantic.

So I know that abrosexual/abroromantic is a thing and so is abrisexual/abriromantic. Is there something like that with gender? Since there's abrogender, could there be an abrigender? I didn't see it in the 'A' section of gender.

Edit:

I really need help with this i'm currently a demi-girl but i feel like i have one main gender which is female but i also have like moods where I'm more masculine or gender less but i always feel predominantly female

> - girl+/gal+/woman+/female+: someone who identifies completely as a girl, plus additional genders. they don't feel partially girl, they aren't fluid, they are entirely a girl plus more. someone could use girl+ to indicate that they don't know specifically what is added onto their gender or that the additional genders are not the 'main' part of their identity.
> - priomhfluid: a gender in which there is a main gender that rarely changes, but there are other genders that can come in. these genders are fluid and fluctuating and how long they stay is also fluid. These fluid genders can be influenced by media, special interests, or hyperfixations!
> - Magibinary: identifying as mostly binary and slightly as other gender(s); having (a) mostly binary gender(s).
> - Demibinarity: identifying partially as binary, partly other gender(s); having partial binary gender(s).
> - Girby: polygender/gendervast of nonbinary and woman; a female-aligned (lunarian) nonbinary woman; a multigirl who has abinary gender(s), e.g. a maverique gurl, a gxrl (agender girl) or a neufemale (neutrois female).

What's the difference between this and genderfluid (with the first definition)?
